ONLY 25 ULTRA-GRACIOUS APARTMENTS IN THE NOBLE HEART OF U-THANT, KUALA LUMPUR

Jalan U-Thant is the dignified diplomatic enclave of Kuala Lumpur, a serene, leafy tree-lined road of mature rainforest trees, just a breath away from the private Royal Selangor Golf Club and minutes from the iconic Petronas Twin Towers and the many multinational corporation offices in the city centre.

Growing up on U-Thant road

It was 1968.

We would climb into the monsoon drains to dig up moss for mother's bonsai, delicate miniature trees with tiny sculptures of bearded white-haired fishermen and moon bridges. When it rained, nanny showed us how to fold paper boats and we would watch the boats float away on the boisterous waters.

I imagined the boats reaching Klang river and then the sea after that. We grew up in this mansion on U-Thant that first belonged to grandfather, and then father, who ran the family tin mining business. So many memories in that old beautiful house with the garden so big, it felt like a neverending field to me.

The roads were quiet, green and very wide. It was an upper-class, generally expatriate neighbourhood, where every family had a team of servants—a driver, cook, gardener, amah—for every task imaginable. On weekends, father would take us out in his Austin Mini Cooper S and I still remember each house and the designs on the gates.

Honour your generations

Let weekends be divinely langorous

Share your experiences

Share your meals

And be ridiculous once in a while

Let your light shine through

...and make time to smile

This distinctly upper-class neighbourhood has charmed expatriates and locals alike with its quiet, unpretentious character and easy living amongst the many stores and conveniences nearby.

A return to my roots...

I could thrive here.

I lived away for many years—

With my husband, we made homes in Hong Kong and Singapore. And now we're back in Kuala Lumpur. Amazingly, we found a home on U-Thant that is just right. Many of the old mansions still stand, quiet and dignified buildings that I've known since I was a child.

Yet today's world is here too, in the clean lines and understated luxury of modern apartments. It's meaningful that I've come full circle, back to the garden of my childhood. This is the neighbourhood I remember and didn't know I missed so much.

THERE'S A VIBE HERE THAT CALLS FOR YOU TO SLOW DOWN

Something of the area's history lingers, and an aura of gracious living and poise remains. Jalan U-Thant is the hidden residential heart of Kuala Lumpur's CBD, also known as Embassy Row, where diplomats, ambassadors, and tycoons live. Taking a walk here, you see glimpses of history in quiet old mansions with well-manicured lawns, the high marble walls of embassies with brass plates, and trees so old they must have good stories to tell... if only they could say.

It's quiet here... but the very real presence of the Petronas Twin Towers is a reminder that I'm in the heart of the city, and just beyond this road are all the attractions of urban Kuala Lumpur—afternoons walking in the stylish modern malls, the humming nightlife, the tastiest street food, and the sophisticated restaurants.

This is your quiet piece of Kuala Lumpur. Yet all the attractions and benefits of city centre living are just around the corner. Nobleton Crest enjoys close proximity to some special places in town. A typical day could include a few sun salutations at Yogshakti on Jalan Ampang, followed by a healthy vegetarian brunch with the ladies at Real and Wholesome Coffee further down the road or Earth Food closer to home.

It's the little things and small events that make every day special.

The neighbourhood is a treasure trove of unique establishments. Grocery runs is a delightful experience at Hock Choon Supermarket, established at a time when “there were more bicycles than cars on Jalan Ampang”. It has catered to generations of expatriates whose favourite foods cannot be found anywhere else in Kuala Lumpur. The kids will be in an international school or a child-inspired learning preschool just down the road. Dining options abound, and together with spas, organic food stores, and other bespoke and specialty shops, the U-Thant-Ampang area is indeed a very interesting and characterful location to set up home.

The life, culture and charm of the neighbourhood never ceases to amaze.

Always somewhere new to eat, something new to experience. Yet there are always the familiar places to go to, where you are comfortable and everything is in its perfect place. This is how I know... this is the place for me.

Within the linear site of Nableton Crest, the architect sought to provide the ambience of gracious villas in the city.

Water animates the spaces in-between, with its playful reflections of light.

The apartments are designed much like the Italian palazzos with their strong horizontal articulation and sculptural arrays—varying scales of elements and surfaces that unify yet contain variations that residents will experience and appreciate every day. And the space... the immense private spaces are why people will choose to live here.

Each apartment is a celebration of spaciousness.

These are veritable mansions by city standards.
Each residence is serviced by a private lift.

*The airiness of high ceilings...
in every room.*

The entertainment kitchen and dining areas are seamless and large-scale, an ideal home for intimate dinner parties.

Carefully considered views from every room.

Some are quiet views of the water garden. Some rooms afford a peek of treetops touching the sky. And others are broad cityscapes to remind you that this is really Kuala Lumpur CBD.

Nights are times to appreciate the stunning KL city views... in the penthouses with private rooftop terraces, sky gardens, pool decks and 12-metre lap pools.

Inviting leisure facilities.

The gym is a luminescent glass-cubed enclosure overlooking the long waters of a lap pool. It's like a lighthouse that guides and welcomes me home every day.
